

Up to 1 in 3 women and 1 in 6 men will experience sexual assault at some time in their lives. Given these statistics it is likely that anyone working in health or human services will at some time work with people affected by sexual assault.

Responding to Sexual Assault - 1 day workshop

Wednesday 30 August 9.30–4.30

Do you want to:

- Extend your knowledge of the nature and consequences of sexual assault?
- Increase your understanding of key issues relevant to sexual assault as a way of providing an effective response?
- Develop skills and confidence in responding to disclosures of sexual assault?
- Identify referral options and professional support?

This one day workshop explores the nature and impact of sexual assault on individuals and families and how workers can respond in ways that are sensitive and effective to those seeking assistance.

Working with the Impacts of Sexual Assault - 2 day workshop

Monday 30 October AND Tuesday 31 October 9.30–4.30 both days

OR

Tuesday 28 November AND Wednesday 29 November 9.30–4.30 both days

- Do you have some experience or previous training in working with women and men who have experienced sexual assault?
- Would you like to extend your skills in working with people affected by sexual assault?
- Would you like the opportunity to learn more about trauma impacts associated with sexual assault and how to provide an effective trauma informed response?
- Would you like to explore and address the effects of vicarious trauma for workers?

This two day workshop will extend the skills of those working therapeutically with people affected by sexual assault. The workshop will integrate feminist theory, trauma theory and systemic theories as a way of understanding and working with the impacts of sexual abuse.

Content and processes of our workshops are informed by feminist analysis, philosophy and practice.
